Cohen & Steers Alternative Income Fund—Class I

Cohen & Steers is a leading global investment manager specializing in real assets and alternative income, including real estate, preferred securities, infrastructure, resource equities, commodities, as well as multi-strategy solutions. Founded in 1986, the firm is headquartered in New York City, with offices in London, Dublin, Hong Kong and Tokyo.

Risks. There are special risks associated with investing in the Fund. All investments involve risks, including loss of capital, and there is no guarantee that investment objectives will be met.

Risks of Investing in an Alternative Income Fund. An alternative income strategy is subject to the risk that its asset allocations may not achieve the desired risk-return characteristic, underperform other similar investment strategies or cause an investor to lose money. Risks associated with preferred securities are different from risks inherent with other investments. In general, the risks of investing in preferred securities include credit risk, interest-rate risk, call risk, reinvestment risk equity-like risks, such as deferral or omission of distributions, subordination to bonds and other more senior debt, and higher corporate governance risks with limited voting rights. Risks of investing in REITs are similar to those associated with direct investments in real estate securities, including falling property values declining, lack of liquidity, limited diversification and sensitivity to certain economic factors such as interest rate changes and market recessions. Global infrastructure securities may be subject to regulation by various governmental authorities, such as rates charged to customers, operational or other mishaps, tariffs and changes in tax laws, regulatory policies and accounting standards. Foreign securities involve special risks, including currency fluctuation and lower liquidity.

Risks Related to the Modification of the Investment Objectives and Investment Strategies. In order to implement the its new principal investment strategies and investment objectives the Fund is expected to experience a high level of portfolio turnover, which may result in increased transaction costs to the Fund. The sale of Fund's portfolio securities may result in the realization and/or distribution to shareholders of higher capital gains (including short-term capital gains, which are taxed at ordinary income tax rates for federal income tax purposes) or losses.

Percentages may differ from data in the Fund's financial statements due to the effect of fair value pricing of foreign securities. The fund implements fair value pricing when the daily change in a specific U.S. market index exceeds a predetermined percentage. In the event fair value pricing is implemented on the first day of the period, the fund's return may diverge from the performance of its benchmark, which is not fair valued. This divergence is usually reduced on the day following the implementation of fair value pricing by the fund, as the value of the securities in the index that are held by the fund typically move closer to the fund's fair valued price when the market reopens.
